TYE RIVER

The Tye River originates on Cowboy Mountain at Stevens Pass in northern Washington state. A dynamic pattern of peaks and valleys represents the Tye River as it flows through the stunning scenery of the North Cascades Loop. Jagged peaks are banded by many high mountain tributaries that plunge down steep waterfalls to join the Tye from hanging valleys. Near its mouth, the river widens, settles and splits, making it an excellent habitat for chinook and coho salmon.

TRAIL SHIRT

A favorite for the great outdoors in virgin wool woven in our USA mills. Spread collar, one matched button-through pocket, Ultrasuede® elbow patches, shirttail hem. Machine washable, 100% Umatilla® Wool, imported of USA fabric, folded, 10.3 oz.

TRAPPER PEAK

Trapper Peak is the highest point in the Bitterroot Mountains of Montana, rising to 10,157 feet. The pattern shows the smooth, triangular shape of this mountain, a gentle pyramid that tempts climbers from around the world to face boulders, a false summit, year-round snow and hours of scramble as they hike 3,800 feet to the summit. Hikers are rewarded with stunning views of the Sapphire Mountains and Bitterroot Valley.

ALTO MESA

The town of Alto, Texas, is just six miles from the Caddo Mounds Historic Site, one of the most complete archaeological sites in North America. The original name of this Mississippian settlement has been lost to time. It was created in approximately 800 CE, with major construction between 1100 and 1300 CE. The pattern of man made hills has bands representing the Camino Real de los Tejas, an ancient travel route, running parallel to the mounds.

TRAPPER PEAK

Trapper Peak is the highest point in the Bitterroot Mountains of Montana, rising to 10,157 feet. The pattern shows the smooth, triangular shape of this mountain, a gentle pyramid that tempts climbers from around the world to face boulders, a false summit, year-round snow and hours of scramble as they hike 3,800 feet to the summit. Hikers are rewarded with stunning views of the Sapphire Mountains and Bitterroot Valley.

TYE RIVER

The Tye River originates on Cowboy Mountain at Stevens Pass in northern Washington state. A dynamic pattern of peaks and valleys represents the Tye River as it flows through the stunning scenery of the North Cascades Loop. Jagged peaks are banded by many high mountain tributaries that plunge down steep waterfalls to join the Tye from hanging valleys. Near its mouth, the river widens, settles and splits, making it an excellent habitat for chinook and coho salmon.

ALTO MESA

The town of Alto, Texas, is just six miles from the Caddo Mounds Historic Site, one of the most complete archaeological sites in North America. The original name of this Mississippian settlement has been lost to time. It was created in approximately 800 CE, with major construction between 1100 and 1300 CE. The pattern of man made hills has bands representing the Camino Real de los Tejas, an ancient travel route, running parallel to the mounds.

BRIDGE CREEK

The central motif of this pattern represents Bridge Creek, a sometimes calm, sometimes tempestuous waterway running through Mitchell, Oregon. This tiny town once held a thriving business district with rollicking saloons known as "Tiger Town," and a hillside residential area known as "Piety Hill." Today, Mitchell welcomes travelers to the John Day Fossil Beds and the Painted Hills. Layers of diamonds and zigzags topped by complex, colorful hills represent the dramatic geology of these Eastern Oregon landmarks.

The PENDLETON® HARDING PATTERN

SINCE 1923

100 YEARS OF HARDING

A new commemorative color celebrates 100 years of the Harding pattern with a refreshed layout. In 1923, President Warren G. Harding and First Lady Florence Harding visited Oregon's Blue Mountain Country to dedicate a portion of the old Oregon Trail. At the ceremony, leaders of the Cayuse and Umatilla Nations presented Mrs. Harding with a newly designed blanket to reflect their admiration of her sincere and forthright nature. For a century, the Harding pattern has been one of Pendleton's most sought after signature patterns. This bright, exciting Century Harding celebrates its evergreen popularity.

PENDLETON MILLS ARE NOW OEKO-TEX® CERTIFIED

Based in Zurich, OEKO-TEX® consists of 17 independent institutes in Europe and Japan that continuously develop test methods and establish values for the textile and leather industry. Their mission is to create trust in textiles. OEKO-TEX® certification means a maker has passed rigorous standards for safety and responsible manufacturing processes. There are different levels and categories of certification. Both Pendleton mills are OEKO-TEX® STeP certified.

The production facilities are certified as sustainable socially responsible. Their products are tested for harmful substances and produced sustainably in accordance with OEKO-TEX® guidelines.

PENDLETON FABRICS

AIRLOOM™ MERINO

Pendleton's finest wool fabric for over 60 years, in light-as-air worsted merino. All-season comfort, wrinkle resistant, refreshes on the hanger between wearings.

OREGON TWEED®

Traditional tweeds inspired by Thomas Kay, a skilled English weaver who arrived in Salem, Oregon, in 1863, where he founded a mill that produced fine worsteds, flannels, and tweeds according to his own weaver's recipes. Kay's grandsons, the three Bishop brothers, opened Pendleton Woolen Mills in the early 1900s.

SOFTLUXE MERINO

Fine virgin merino wool woven into luxurious fabric with a soft, milled finish that has a cashmere-like touch.

STADIUM CLOTH

Rugged and warm, Stadium Cloth is woven in our USA mills from the same yarns as our Deluxe Motor Robes, for lasting, comfortable warmth.

ULTRALUXE MERINO

Fine virgin merino wool woven into the softest flannel. Wrinkle and odor resistant thanks to wool's natural elasticity and moisture-wicking qualities.

UMATILLA®

A versatile medium weight 100% virgin wool plain weave perfect for outdoor and indoor wear, and machine washable. Takes its name from Oregon's Umatilla County, home of the Pendleton, Oregon mill, and where Pendleton buys wool from local sheep ranchers.

ARCHIVAL PATTERNS

Plaids from the Past

These plaids were inspired by favorites from the Pendleton fabric archives. On wool shirts made with these patterns, look for a "From the Archives" hangtag, and a blue placket label with the year of the plaid's first release.

BENEFITS OF WOOL

There's More to Wool Than Warmth

SUSTAINABLE & RENEWABLE

In a time of environmental consciousness, this biodegradable and renewable resource remains longer-lasting and better looking than synthetic fabrics.

RESILIENT & WRINKLE-RESISTANT

The unique characteristics of the individual wool fibers give fabrics the ability to hold a shape, resist wrinkles and withstand wear. This makes wool great for travel. Wool can be stretched or twisted and its cells return to their original position.

NATURALLY COMFORTABLE

Wool fibers spring back to shape keeping their open, porous nature. Wool provides the most warmth with the least weight. The air trapped inside (about 80% of wool fabric volume) makes wool an excellent insulator. Wool is nature's original outdoor "performance" fiber.

FLAME RESISTANT

Unless it is in direct contact with flame, wool will extinguish itself. The denser the weave and the greater the fabric weight, the less likely it is to char because of its smaller oxygen content. Fire departments recommend the use of wool blankets, rugs or coats to put out flames.

LUSTROUS & FADE RESISTANT

Wool has a permanent natural luster it never loses, even after years of hard wear. It absorbs dyes until it is completely saturated so colors stay brilliant. No other fiber can be spun or woven into such a variety of weights, textures, finishes and colors.

WATER & STAIN REPELLENT

Wool repels light water, like a rain shower, because of the membrane on the outer scales. In very wet conditions, wool can absorb up to 30% of its own weight without feeling damp. And because of insulation ability, wool "breathes," allowing the body's natural moisture to pass through.
