ACCESSORIES

New! DIAMOND DESERT - TRADITIONS

Traditional Native American geometric weaving inspired this early 1900s blanket design. In our exclusive pattern, arrows, triangles and serrated diamonds are arranged in a reflection of hózhó, a Navajo word that embodies the quest for balance in life. The four stripes illustrate the balance between darkness and light. Diamonds represent the four sacred mountains that define the four directions and enclose the Navajo universe in the shape of a diamond.

Spot clean. 100% cotton canvas, 100% virgin wool, leather trim, antique brass hardware. Random horizontal pattern placement. Imported. Available 4/25/24

New! PASCO - TRADITIONS

In 1805, the Corps of Discovery led by Lewis and Clark camped near the Columbia River in the area occupied by present-day Pasco, Washington. Routes for Native Americans, fur trappers, and gold traders converged here in the rain shadow of the Cascade Range, creating a trade nexus despite the dry, high desert climate. Using alternating bands of dynamic motifs drawn from some of the earliest archival Pendleton blankets, this pattern captures the cultural convergence that results from commerce.

New! SOLSTICE CANYON

California's Rising Sun Trailhead offers spectacular views of Solstice Canyon, home to many weathered formations in the Santa Monica Mountains National Recreation Area. The largest urban national park in the United States offers 500 miles of hiking trails. Colorful bands represent powerful creeks that have carved canyons among the famed peaks: Sugarloaf, Lady Face, and Saddle Peak. Bands of chaparral cover the mountains, and triangular shapes represent local and imported trees, alive with wild parrots.

ROCK POINT BLACK

Rock Point, or Tsé Nitsaa Deez'áhi in Navajo, is a small town in Arizona. All through the Rock Point area, Navajo/Diné weavers create beautiful rugs, hangings and ceremonial dress sashes. These gifted weavers work on hand-built wooden looms passed from generation to generation, along with the knowledge of this traditional art. They often use locally produced churro wool, dyed and woven into dazzling geometric patterns. According to legend, the gift of weaving came to the Navajo people as a gift from Spider Woman, a deity who lives at the top of Spider Rock in the Canyon de Chelly.

Spot clean. 82% virgin wool, 18% cotton, leather trim, antique silver hardware. Random horizontal pattern placement unless otherwise noted. Imported. Available 8/25/24

New! EXPLORER - NEHALEM GREY

Nehalem ("place where people live") is the name of a town, a river, a bay, and a park on Oregon's Pacific coast. Large ovals show the ebbing and rising tides of Nehalem Bay, where crabbing, fishing and clamming are popular pastimes. Triangular tree shapes represent the forested bike and equestrian trails throughout the Nehalem State Park. Legends of Spanish treasure buried on nearby Neahkahnie Mountain inspire the repeated "X" in the pattern's horizontal bands.

OPAL SPRINGS - CANOPY CANVAS COLLECTION

Inspired by pieced quilts, Opal Springs offers a modern take on a traditional craft. Near the tiny town of Culver, early travelers to Oregon found a natural spring within a plunging gorge on the Lower Crooked River. Transfixed by jewel-like stones bubbling up in the icy waters, they named this place Opal Springs. This pattern uses a quilt-like arrangement of shapes to show the movement and beauty of those stones—naturally polished agates—churning in fresh springwater.
